About Us

Northern Hill Online School is an initiative of Northern Hill Publication, a well-known brand in school books publication and different school learning programs since last 19 years.

Our ongoing research in children education and learning, to come out with quality books, helps us in motivating a child to explore, innovate and evolve.

We already have a panel of teachers, academicians, child psychologists and career counselors for our publication division. We have been holding workshops in many schools, to educate teachers about any new concepts that we give in our books.

All these resources will be of great help in our new initiative.

Some series of books published by Northern Hill Publication. You can see and read all the books on our website northernhillpublication.com

Talent Based Learning (TBL)

We all know that a horse is very good at running, a fish in swimming and a bird in flying. But, what will happen, if you start training a horse to climb, a fish to fly and a bird to run? All of them will find it so difficult to do the same that they will feel disappointed and doubt their own capability.

In Talent Based Learning, we explore the field of interest of a child and guide them to pursue their inherent interest with confidence.

After considerable observation of each child, for a year or two, by educators and career counselors, a report will be generated of the child's interest. It will be discussed with the parents and the child to reach a conclusion. After that the student will be included in the house (classroom) of his interest. For example, children interested in creative writing, will be in Shakespeare house and those who wish to pursue a career in computers and AI (Artificial Intelligence) will be in Google house.

This does not mean that students will not be taught other subjects. Holistic development of a child is very much needed. We have developed the curriculum keeping these factors in mind.
